Dear Hiring Team,

Re: Senior SQL DBA

I am writing to express my interest in the Senior SQL DBA position with DistantJob's client. I bring more than 15 years of experience working with Microsoft SQL Server across database administration, SQL development, production support, performance optimization, data integration, and enterprise reporting environments.

Throughout my career, I have supported production databases, developed and optimized complex T-SQL queries and stored procedures, improved indexing strategies, and resolved database and data workflow issues. At Intertec International, my optimization work reduced query execution times by up to 50%. I have also worked with SQL Server Always On, Extended Events, and Query Store to analyze workload behavior and troubleshoot performance problems.

My experience includes leading the migration of ten SQL Server databases, maintaining data integrity during production changes, and collaborating with development and business teams to identify risks and deliver reliable solutions. I have also established database management and security practices, documented technical environments, and trained development teams on SQL programming and performance best practices.

In my current role, I continue developing and reviewing SQL-based data solutions while using Git-based workflows, Cursor, and an AI-assisted pull request review process. This experience has strengthened my ability to evaluate database changes for maintainability, performance, and downstream impact.

I am particularly interested in this opportunity because it combines production ownership, proactive performance improvement, and close collaboration with developers. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my SQL Server background could support your client's customized, multi-database SaaS environment.

Sincerely,

Pedro Javier Gutierrez Armas
